

Messy Church

Melanie Pike

Messy church has been lovely again this year. So many familiar faces continue to attend and also some new faces appearing too. Great to see these attend Sunday mornings as well. It's a joy to get to know all these families and pray that these links continue. The artwork still continues to make me smile as all the children and adults respond to them in their own creative way.

Thank you to all who help out with this church service. I could not do it without you. Mel.
